EARTHQUAKE ON THE SLOPE.

A Sharp Shock Followed by the Fall of a Meteor.

(By Associated Press.)
LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 30.—This most of the movement was more of an upheaving than of an undulatory character. It is described as a sharp shock but not doing much damage. At Santa Monice and San Peiro a tidal wave was looked for by the timorous but no indication of one was noticed.

At Acton there were three distinct shocks, the most severe ever felt in that region, but no particular damage is reported. The peculiar feature of the affair at that place, however, was that immediately after the vibrations ceased, a large meteor, similar to the one which attracted so much attention on Friday night here, was seen to fall to the north. It appeared like an immense ball of blue fire and apparently moved from the zenith to the north in a rapid way.
